COUNCIL ORDERS FIRE SYSTEM IN PUMP STATION

Acts to Protect Plant From Possibility of Damaging Blaze

P. U. C. O. CALLS FOR RAIL PROTECTION

24-Hour Guard at Dangerous Crossings Is Recommended

City council at a half-hour meeting Tuesday night heard reports from committees and cleaned up several legislative problems.

The solons empowered the safety committee, headed by Councilman-at-Large Charles Rheutan, to have a fire protective system installed at the waterworks pumping station on W. State st.

Under the supervision of Fire Chief Vincent Malloy and Service Director Frank Wilson, hose and nozzle equipment will be placed within the plant. The new equipment will cost about $70. At present two small chemical extinguishers provide the only immediate protection.

The pumping station was threatened last winter when a fire broke out at a switchboard.

Asks 24-Hour Protection

President Charles Cornwall informed the councilmen that the Ohio Public Utilities Commission has recommended to the Pennsylvania railroad the establishment of 24-hour protection at the W. Pershing and Wilson st. crossings, as requested by city officials last summer following a fatal accident on Wilson st.

Cornwall indicated that if the Pennsylvania railroad fails to comply with the commission's recommendations within a reasonable time, the city is supposed to complain again to the P. U. C. O. W. E. Harrington, inspector for the commission, viewed the crossings here two months ago and then made his recommendations.

Members of the water and sewer committees reported that plans are being considered for sponsoring a work relief project in Salem to aid local unemployed men.

LAWYER SPURNS PLACE ON BENCH

Att'y S. W. Crawford Rejects Court of Appeals Post

LISBON, Feb. 2—Att'y Samuel W. Crawford of East Liverpool this morning declined the appellate judgeship offered him by Gov. Martin L. Davey.

The governor called Att'y Crawford by telephone while Crawford was in the courthouse here.

The court of appeals vacancy exists as the result of the death of Judge J. W. Roberts, of Jefferson, last Oct. 25. Judges J. C. Nichols and William Carter are the other appellate jurists.

Att'y Crawford, in declining the governor's offer, said he wouldn't want to give up his law practice in East Liverpool.

The attorney, who has spent most of his life in East Liverpool, is a former Columbiana county probate judge and sheriff. He is active in Democratic circles in the county as well as the "Pottery City."

BATTLE FLAMES IN CLUB ROOMS

Firemen Avert Possible Costly Conflagration

What might have been a serious fire in the heart of downtown Salem was averted Tuesday night when two boys luckily stumbled upon a blaze in the Columbian club headquarters, third floor over Hansell's dress shop, 516-18 E. State st.

Firemen, called at 8:42 p. m., worked feverishly to check the flames which had the kitchen of the club rooms ablaze and were spreading underneath the floor and up a wall separating the club rooms and an adjoining building.

Battle Heavy Smoke

The firemen battled heavy smoke as well as the flames to reach the heart of the fire which had broken out in the kitchen. Cause of the fire is not determined, Chief Vincent L. Malloy said.

Although the rear of the club rooms was burned badly, principal damage was caused when the fire broke through into the second-floor apartment of Miss Augusta Miller, who operates a beauty shop in the front of the building. Her furniture was damaged mostly by water, which also seeped through into Hansell's store on the main floor.

Ceiling plastering came down in the store, damaging a rack of dresses.

Firemen laid three lines of two and one-half inch hose, but found it only necessary to use a small line from the booster tank.

Chief Malloy said that if the fire had not been discovered as soon as it was, the building probably would have burned.

"UNFAIR TRADE" PRACTICES HIT AT F.D.R. PARLEY

"Little Fellows" Voice Protests Against Large Concerns

Reports Will Be Made To President Roosevelt Tomorrow

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 2—Small business men, here by the hundreds for President Roosevelt's conference of "little fellows," voiced protests today against what they termed unfair trade practices of some large concerns.

Representatives of retail merchants from all parts of the country went to the first session of the conference expressing determination to demand action against various types of chain store organizations.

Some said they were interested in getting taxes imposed on chain corporations. Others sought conference approval of varied types of restrictions on their big competitors.

Many said they believed these demands might figure in President Roosevelt's efforts to end monopolies and business "abuses."

The business men will continue their "town meeting" with commerce department officials until tomorrow afternoon. Then a dozen of them will report to Mr. Roosevelt what they and their colleagues think should be done to improve and stabilize business.

A proposal for federal loans to small concerns probably will head the list of suggestions. Letters which business men have written the President indicate a tight credit situation is one of their chief worries.

Mr. Roosevelt said at his press conference yesterday that government study of the credit question would be reported. At the same time the President disclosed that aid for another big section of business—the railroad industry—was under consideration. He said Walter M. W. Spiawn, chairman of the interstate commerce commission, had suggested a White House conference on ways to help the carriers and was arranging with rail officials and others to attend.

The President also gave further attention yesterday to the problems of the automobile industry. Representatives of the United Automobile Workers' union were present.

HIGH DEBATERS CAPTURE TITLE

Become District Champs With Victory Over Scienceville

Salem High school's debaters became district champions Tuesday when the local negative squad won over the Scienceville affirmative speakers in a match in Salem High school.

The Quakers held victories over East Palestine, Newton Falls and Scienceville. They beat East Palestine twice. T. C. Bond of Niles was judge in yesterday's debate.

The Salem High debaters, who alternate as negative and affirmative speakers, are Constance Clarke, Lionel Difford and Elsie Hunter. J. C. Guiler, Salem High debate coach, announced that the locals will meet either Ravenna, Struthers or Warren on Feb. 23, after district pairings are made.

A state debate champion will be crowned sometime in April after final eliminations are held.

Open New Semester For Kent Classes

The second semester of the Kent University extension classes will start tomorrow at the High school building, Sup't. E. S. Kerr announced today. The classes are under the supervision of Dr. W. R. Baker of the Kent university faculty.

The afternoon class, starting at 4:15, will be a continuation of the geography subject studied last semester.

The evening class at 7 p. m., however, will be a reorganization meeting. The subject to be studied will be one chosen by those present at that time.

Eighty district school teachers attended the extension classes during the first semester and enrollment for the final term is expected to be as high.

"It's All Garlic!" Says 'Prof' About Groundhog Myth In Meantime, Gobbler's Knob Says 'Chuck' Saw Shadow

(By Associated Press) GOBBLER'S KNOB, PUNXSUATOWN, Pa., Feb. 2—The seer of Gobbler's Knob made his 41st appearance today, felt the nip of cold air on his nose and colder snow on his toes, and retreated to the comfort of his burrow in these western Pennsylvania hills.

He saw his shadow and that, say followers of the Gobbler's Knob groundhog, means six more weeks of winter.

Across the state, where the members of Slumbering Groundhog Lodge of Quarryville continued their ritual through the day, the claim of the Gobbler's Knob seer to the title "nation's weather-works" is disputed.

At the crack of dawn the "faithful" of the Quarryville lodge gathered in traditional garb at the hole of their "official" woodchuck—labeled "Pretender" by supporters of the Gobbler's Knob seer.

Clad in top hats and night shirts and carrying canes, the Quarryville members—as they have done for 38 years—asssembled soberly about their oracle to interpret his forecast.

This will require the undivided attention of Hibernating Governor George W. Hensel and his followers throughout the day and, after long meditation, the result will be announced tonight.

Meanwhile, at Philadelphia, Dr. J. P. Moore, professor of zoology at the University of Pennsylvania, doubted the groundhog legend, which originated with early settlers.

He discounted it all as merely a matter of "garlic."

"It's one of the earliest greens and the groundhog often comes up this early to find out how the crop is coming along," he said and, to prove his theory, told how he had caught woodchucks at his country home and pumped their stomachs.

WRIGHT QUIZZED BY PROSECUTOR IN DEATH STORY

Says He Found His Wife And Kimmel In "Awful Positions"

CLIMAXES FIGHT TO SAVE HIS LIFE

Composure Fails As He Answers Questions of Attorney

(By Associated Press) LOS ANGELES, Feb. 2—Paul A. Wright was subjected to searching cross-examination today as prosecutors tried to blast his story he killed his wife and his business associate, John Kimmel, because he found them in "awful positions."

Chief Prosecutor S. E. Roll tried to ferret from the airport executive's story, related in direct examination, a loophole to fortify the state's charge of deliberate murder.

Tells His Story

Wright's version of the fantastic tragedy was in the court records. He said he brought Kimmel, his operations manager at Union Air terminal, to his Glendale home for a nightcap. They had a round of drinks. Wright, weary, retired for a nap. He was awakened by a "noise" from the piano.

"I walked to the doorway separating the bedroom from the living room. I didn't see Evelyn, but I saw Johnny sitting on the bench before the grand piano. I thought she might be on the davenport or in the kitchen. I walked toward the kitchen, turned, and turned again.

"Then I saw Evelyn on the piano bench with Johnny. They were in awful positions. Then Evelyn rose to a sitting position. She put her arms around Kimmel. He put his arms around her. They kissed.

"Then everything inside me just exploded. The next thing I knew I was standing there with a gun in my hand. There was blood, and he was moaning."

Brands Wife Unfaithful

That was the climax of Wright's fight to save himself from the lethal gas chamber. By his own testimony he branded his wife as unfaithful to marriage vows.

He had many secrets of his life as a student at the University of Wisconsin, as an artillery sergeant in the World war, as a bond trader in Chicago "with 26 telephones on my desk," as a druggist in St. Petersburg, Fla., and as an airplane salesman.

He admitted he told friends he suspected his wife of unfaithfulness but insisted that at no time did he

Trailer Destroyed By Fire; Loss $600

The trailer of a truck outfit, owned and driven by C. S. Gordon, 36, of R. D. 1, New Philadelphia, was destroyed when it caught fire on Route 62, six miles north of Salem, at 3 a. m. today.

Damage was estimated at $600 by State Highway Patrolman R. M. Perry. Gordon, who was unhurt, also reported the fire to firemen at city hall.

Automobiles driven by Herman Segesman, Detroit, Mich., and William R. Sinclair, R. D. 1, Hubbard, collided on Route 14, one mile east of Washingtonville, at 4:35 p. m. Tuesday when Sinclair attempted to make a left turn into a service station. No one was injured. Patrolman Perry said.

Wright, Secretary, on Stand

Pauline Roach

As the trial of Paul A. Wright on a charge of murdering his wife and "best friend" neared an end in Los Angeles, Wright took the stand in his own defense. Another witness was Pauline Roach, former secretary. Wright sobbed while his attorney read a deposition to the effect he had undergone a sterilization operation because it might impair his wife's health to have additional children. The defense based its case on the testimony Wright found his wife and friend in a compromising position.

"POLICY CLEAR" SAYS PRESIDENT

Senate Criticism Is Not Likely to Alter Foreign Plans

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 2—Informal officials predicted today that senate criticism would fail to alter the administration's course in international relations.

President Roosevelt told his press conference late yesterday that his foreign policy was very clear to most people. His comment followed demands from Senator Borah (R-Idaho) and Senator Johnson (R-Calif) for clarification.

Borah told the senate that through an administration policy of silence, other nations were being led to believe the United States and Great Britain had formed a "tacit alliance" to build up their navies. This situation, he declared, invited war.

In response to another question at his press conference, the President said his current recommendations for increased appropriations for the army constituted all he now had in mind for that branch of national defense.

Chairman Pittman (D-Nev) of the senate foreign relations committee was quick to take issue with Johnson and Borah.

America, Pittman said, was avoiding "alliance either for offense or defense." Naval expansion was made necessary, he contended, by the very fact that our policy calls for no military alliances.

The administration, he said, has

LEAGUE SENDS OUT REMINDERS

It's Not Too Late To Contribute To Health Seal Campaign: $300 More Is Needed

Today the Columbiana County Public Health League mailed 2,500 reminder cards to county residents. The cards bear the message "It is not too late to make your Christmas Seal contribution. The money will be used to discover tuberculosis in its early stages when it is easily curable."

The last of November the Columbiana County Public Health League, under the direction of the Christmas Seal committee, mailed 7,000 letters throughout the county. From this number, 4,500 replies have been received by the township chairmen.

The Christmas Seal committee states: "We are only $300 short of the county goal of $5,500. Reminder cards are sent out because people often unintentionally mislay or forget their Christmas seals. In the Christmas rush many good people who intend to give 'just don't get around to it.'"

"Tuberculosis never takes a holiday. There are so many who need the help that the Christmas seals can give," points out B. L. Flick, seal sale chairman for Perry township, who adds: "The books have not been closed as yet, and any contribution which has been delayed will now be gratefully received."

FINGERPRINTS ARE CHECKED BY PATROL EXPERT

Carl H. Varian Home Is Entered While Occupants Attend Show

MONEY IS TAKEN FROM CEDAR CHEST

Cash Taken from Bank to Pay Taxes and Other Expenses

LEETONIA, Feb. 2—State highway patrol authorities today checked fingerprints in an effort to apprehend the burglar, or burglars, who broke into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Varian, 345 Waddell st., here Tuesday night and stole $980.

Money Drawn From Bank Varian, who operates the Salem-Leetonia bus line, had drawn the money from a bank earlier in the day, intending to pay taxes and take care of some expense incurred in the bus operation.

He put the money in a cedar chest in the bedroom of their home. The chest was then locked.

The burglary occurred between 7 and 10:30 p. m., while the Varians, accompanied by their son, Carroll, and daughter, Lucille, attended a movie in Salem.

When the family returned home, the discovered that the lock on the rear door had been broken and the door pushed in. The latch on the screen door likewise was broken.

Nothing Else Disturbed Investigation showed that the only thing bothered in the house was the cedar chest, leading authorities to believe the person, or persons, committing the crime knew well what to do. A small sum of money in the kitchen was overlooked.

The thieves pulled the bedroom blinds down while committing the robbery. Marshal Henry Gibson told Salem state highway patrolmen the contents of the cedar chest had been strewn about the floor.

Corp. F. S. Van Allen, fingerprint expert at the Massillon patrol headquarters, was to examine the chest and other articles in the house this afternoon for fingerprints.

COUNTY SETS UP 2 RELIEF FUNDS

Special Examiner Explains Proposed Method Of Operating

LISBON, Feb. 2—Norman Hirt of Sandusky, one of 40 special relief examiners employed through recent state legislative action, arrived at the courthouse here today to confer with Columbiana county commissioners concerning new relief administration.

Hirt, who also has charge of Trumbull county relief problems, will divide his time between Lisbon and Warren, spending 12 days here and 12 there.

The examiner today announced the establishment of two specific relief funds, one to be known as Columbiana county's poor relief excise fund, in which the county matches state grants on a one to two ratio. For every $2 turned over by the state, the county commissioners "kick in" $1.

The second fund, known as Columbiana county's 1938 relief fund, is the operating fund from which the county subdivisions are aided. Hirt, indicating that the cities and smaller communities were unable to handle their relief problems without outside financial assistance, said he would confer with the county commissioners on two alternate plans.

First, that a centralized relief agency be established in Lisbon with the commissioners acting as sole administrators, or continuing on the present plan of doling out funds to the various sub-divisions and leaving the administrative cares up to them.

The county commissioners, now in Columbus conferring with the state officials on relief problems, are expected back shortly.

Government O. K.'s Project at Lisbon

LISBON, Feb. 2—Lisbon's $39,824 WPA "blanket" street poor relief project has been approved by the government. Congressman Lawrence E. Inhofe notified Mayor G. C. Rauch today.

The project, submitted by the village council two months ago, covers grading, surfacing of streets, construction of curbs and sidewalks and installation of storm sewers.

THEY GO TOGETHER

A tendency to think of fascism and communism as unrelated threats to their own form of government still hampers the thinking of Americans, though in some quarters it is yielding to a more realistic appraisal.

Lady Astor, Virginia-born member of the British parliament, briefly stated the real situation in an interview just recently. Questioned about fascism, she replied "Nobody ever heard of it until communism came along."

Fascism is a form of dictatorship set up to combat the anarchy of communism. If Americans can profit from Europe's experiences to the extent of understanding that relationship, they will have won more than half the fight to save their own principle of government, which has room for neither anarchy nor the disciplinary measures relied upon abroad to prevent anarchy.

THREE IN RESERVE

Boxing fans are holding three cheers in reserve for Jim Braddock. He was up there once, he touched bottom and he came back. He earned what fighters want—admiration and money.

Keeping the money is his lookout. His chances are as good as those of any minor capitalist, probably better, because he knows what it is to have it, then not to have it, then to get it back.

Keeping the glory, however, is partly the responsibility of fight fans. They have seen many willing boys unable to quit boxing in time because they needed cheers, or money, or both. They didn't want that to happen to Braddock.

So they have three cheers in reserve for Plain James in case he gets fidgety for one more fight now that he has retired. He gets the cheers when he decides enough is enough, not before, nor unless.

ONE MORE JOT OF EVIDENCE

There's no doubt members of CIO are as interested as anyone else in the problem of unemployment. But it may be doubted deeply that as individuals its members feel any special responsibility for the unemployed.

John L. Lewis' letter urging CIO affiliates to lobby for more work relief jobs thus becomes one of those gestures which men thinking about the future feel called upon to make for their own purposes. It is not the CIO which is going to put pressure on congress, but the leader of that organization.

To be sure, if congress responds, as it is expected to do, though not because of Mr. Lewis, both he and the CIO will be in a position to claim credit. It is, however, Mr. Lewis who will be in a position to collect credit, because he initiated the idea.

In other words, Mr. Lewis still is piling up circumstantial evidence that in his position of labor leader he is thinking about his potentialities as a political leader.

PLANNING FOR PLANNERS

Recollections of previous trouble since 1933 over coordinating the coordinators, as well as forebodings, are stirred by the national bituminous coal commission's vigorous resistance to the railroads' application for rate increases.

The government has been backing step by step into control of railroads. It has plunged headfirst into control of the bituminous coal industry. It finds itself dealing now with a clash between two industries for both of which it feels responsible.

The coal commission, which speaks officially, says railroads must not increase rates at the expense of coal. The railroads, which speak unofficially, though they are regulated by the interstate commerce commission, say higher prices for coal used in rail operations make more revenue essential.

The commission's rebuttal is that railroads are asking for more than they need to offset the effect of coal price stabilization on their operating costs. The commission claims, also, that coal should be given special consideration by railroads, because it is the backbone of their freight revenue.

While the issue of a planned vs. a free economy rages, the planners are dealing with the problem of who is going to regulate the regulators once they have been appointed to the task of saving this industry and that one—a process which always seems to entail putting the blame for each and every handicap on some other industry.

By this time the League of Nations must have reached the conclusion that the best thing to do about sanctions is nothing.

THE STARS SAY:

For Thursday, February 3

Judging by the lunar transits, this day will unfold many curious and mystifying circumstances, with much to intrigue the mind and demand a very concrete showing of wisdom, calculation and sagacity. Duplicité, fraud and subtle assaults on your will being loom, but you may win out by following the advice of your employers or superiors and by adhering strictly to practical ideas.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of rather peculiar, mysterious and intriguing adventure, all calling for great wariness, discretion and sagacity.

A child born on this day may have a rather intriguing and subtle make-up, with certain peculiar traits and talents which might be diverted or trained to constructive channels of expression. Its impracticality might be developed in creative art, music, poetry or invention.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Feb. 2—A runner-up for the late George Horace Lorimer's aversion to New York is Karl Bickel, ex-newspaperman. Bickel is among the few high-powered executives to call it a day while on the hither side of 50. He saved his kudos while the going was good and now coasts.

His big job was president of the United Press. After settling his affairs he set out for Sarasota, Fla., where he built a hacienda, surrounded himself with a kennel of favorite dogs and now comes to New York only when he has to take a liner for Europe.

Irvin Cobb, so long a part of the local scene, went to Hollywood to fill a six week contract. That was four years ago. He has been back but once and was then the proverbial fish out of water. Both his city apartment on Park avenue and country place at Easthampton are on the market.

No one perhaps was a more dyed-in-the-wool Broadwayite than Mason Peters, wit and newspaperman. He formed a sudden dislike for the town and quit it about six years ago. A few months ago he returned for a month's visit but left the metropolis flat in 48 hours.

New York has a Shanghai Refugee Club, composed of those who had to flee the war-stricken Chinese city without possessions. There are several hundred here trying to get a new hold on life—a fresh start. There was a strict order: "No dogs or animals allowed in evacuation." Thus it was a number refused to go and many paid for such understandable devotion with their lives. And most of the deserted dogs left behind were slain.

It's an odd assortment of types and certainly the most bewildered that comprises the audience at the Cameo, a movie a hop skip off Broadway in 42nd street. It exploits chiefly the Russian film and news pictures stressing the progress of the Soviet. Many jabber away in native tongue. The women are the shawled and shrinking prototypes of the Ghetto doorways. All are undemonstrative, seldom laughing, applauding or booing.

Among most popular of the de-luxe liner pursers is the jaunty Henry Villar, of the Normandie, who, it is reported, may retire in a season or so. He began pursuing on the Paris, then went to the Ile de France and on to his present post. Once a marine lawyer at Havre, he was pressed into service during an emergency and proved so affable and capable he was inducted to quit avocating and make sailing a career. He speaks seven languages but his chief charm is in his exquisite manners. He seems absolutely crushed with sympathy when nasty weather comes and has a way of bending over a lady's hand for a bee's wing kiss that makes her feel the ship is hers.

The seasoned voyager, incidentally, is not always the jaunty sailor, in the sense of freedom from mal de mer. Frazier Hunt becomes nauseated going up a gang plank and remains in bed unable to raise his head until he reaches the other side. I have been in two fierce Atlantic gales and in both instances the captains confessed they had their uneasy moments. The most astonishing sailor ever encountered was a New York woman who professed to have no appetite on shore but was wolf hungry when a ship got out of sight of land. She devoured large bowls of onion soup for breakfast, participated in all the deck snacks and three whopping meals a day. In a most violent storm she never had the tiniest touch of seasickness.

No illnesses—and I've had some honeys—bring on such an all gone feeling as sea sickness. Nor is any recovery so complete and rapid. I once actually considered ordering an ambulance to trundle me to Paris when within a few hours of Havre, and it is no exaggeration that ten minutes after I landed I was doing a jig under the train sheds. And after several wan days of splitting a grape with my wife for food, we each tore into a Chateaubriand with trimmings for breakfast on the boat train.

Footnote to genealogy: One of the characters out our way used to say: "I was raised on hoe cake, sow belly, pot likker and heart-burn."

HEALTH OF CHILD

"MY DAUGHTER has been told by her doctor that it is inadvisable for me to sleep with my grandchild," a reader writes. "I cannot quite understand this. I am 75 years of age and have always been in the very best of health. Would you please advise me?"

This inquiry is similar to many I have received. On other occasions I have referred to the subject and it really is a matter of great importance. It is difficult to speak frankly because I do not wish to hurt the feelings of any fond grandparent. But I am sure, if the objections to this practice are known, there will be no ill feeling.

There really are possible health hazards involved in an elderly person sleeping in the same room with a young child. Often the danger is unknown or unsuspected. Let me explain this more fully.

Do you know there are infectious diseases afflicting mankind that are rarely a source of danger to an individual after he passes the age of 40? It is well known that certain diseases frequently encountered in childhood and young adult life are rarely seen in persons beyond middle age. It works the other way, too. Older persons often harbor the germs of such diseases and can transmit them to the young.

Tuberculosis Menace
The greatest menace relates to tuberculosis, a strange disease. It may be harbored by a given individual for many years without any apparent sign of its existence. As the individual becomes older and the general health is impaired, the hidden tuberculosis may become active. Many elderly persons who suffer from chronic cough are likely to believe they are victims of chronic bronchitis. In reality, they may be suffering from some form of tuberculosis.

If such an individual lives in the same room with a youngster, it is possible the tuberculosis will be transmitted from the unsuspecting grandparent to the grandchild. Many cases of tuberculosis in young children have been traced to this source. For this reason all the authorities advise against the sharing of sleeping chambers. In addition, they warn against the fond grandparent fondling or kissing the youngster on the lips, unless it is definitely known the grandparent is in good health, free of cough or other suspicious signs of tuberculosis.

To be on the safe side, it is well for everyone having cough, loss of weight, night sweats and other annoying symptoms, to consult with the doctor. To protect the youngster against infection it is well that he sleep in a room separate and apart from elderly persons. This is a health precaution that should not be overlooked.

Answers to Health Queries
J. T. O. D. Q.—I have bronchitis and sinusitis. Would a change of climate be of any advantage?

A—Follow your doctor's advice. A change of climate is sometimes very helpful in such cases. Make every effort to improve the general health and resistance in the meantime. For full particulars, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Miss A. R. Q.—I am 24 years of age and single. I have had acne for several years and have used various remedies without results. What can be done to overcome this condition?

A—For full particulars, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Dr. Copeland is glad to answer inquiries from readers who send an addressed, stamped envelope with their questions. Address all letters to Dr. Copeland, New York City.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat

Everything from Soup to Nuts
The stomach should digest the products of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or tired, your stomach pours out too much acid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Ball's and for indulgent to make the gross stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one package proves it. Ask for Ball's for Indigestion.

"GIVE HER WINGS" by MARIE BLIZARD

CHAPTER XXXII

"Kate Wynndham meant to say it so sharply. Julie answered shortly. 'Sorry,' she said when her ten had taken a trick that she had played badly. The mis-play cost her a game. It was her second mis-play and she became confused, was angry at herself and with the other. She should have said she was tired and couldn't play the game any more. Next time she'd win and quit."

Next time she wouldn't even propose the game; she knew now that Nancy's one interest was gambling. Nancy would propose another game. And she'd find Julie prepared for it.

As she expected, Nancy did exactly that the next afternoon. Julie's almost sleepless night did not contribute to the alertness of her mind but she made up for it by her determination.

Schooling herself to thinking of nothing but the cards, she took her place at the bridge table and shuffled the cards expertly and assembled the suits in her hand.

On the opening hand, she made six tricks. Second hand she bid four spades on a gamble and made them. Her confidence came back. The third hand she played, she lost two tricks to Nancy. From then on, the descent was swift. Kate overbid her hand and Julie couldn't save them.

In a frantic effort to recoup, she played recklessly. At dinner time she had lost fifty-four dollars.

She was a little sick sitting through that evening trying to be gay and make conversation, trying to hear what people were saying above the voice of her conscience.

Her losses that afternoon, coupled with the six dollar above the thirty-five she had won the day before had nearly wiped out the money that she owed Millicent.

She had to get it back! She couldn't go back to Fayette without the money for Millicent. In a letter to Millicent she had told her about the money she had been paid for her newspaper story, for the testimonial. She could never in this world tell her that she had spent it recklessly and gambled away the last of it.

Her dreams that night were haunted by falling cards. They tumbled about her head like snowflakes, piling up around her until she had to fight her way out of the increasing mound of them.

They were violet shadows under her eyes in the morning. She would play again and win. She wouldn't play again and lose. What would she do if she lost? How could she pay?

So went the unending circle of her thoughts.

In the morning she went into the village with Paul to do some shopping for Nancy. In the drug-store, they played the slot machines. Paul fed nickels to her and then she won twenty of them with one play.

Paul said he knew a "little dive" where they had better games than this. They went to it and played bagatelle. Julie won repeatedly.

"Girl, luck's with you! I'll match you for your last haul!" Julie said. "Heads."

"Heads it is! The works are all yours."

Luck was with her again.

Prove Man Crossed Bering Strait by Dogsled

Huskies help man on perilous trek

Convinced of it, she decided to play bridge again. She'd had a run of bad luck for two games. She'd surely come back. But she didn't. She lost. Lost again. Had begun to give her I. O. U.s to Elsa and Nancy. They weren't very big but the little pile of papers began to grow.

There was a fever in her veins by then. Her eyes burned painfully and her body felt limp with the sickness in her mind. Driven to desperation, she lost her sense of proportion. She lacked the courage to tell these rich girls that she couldn't afford to go on. They weren't driving her—she was doing it of her own free will, impelled by a kind of mad desire to win, not only to recoup her losses but to prove herself.

Between times she slept fitfully, ate little or nothing, did as others suggested, swimming or dancing, wished that she could sink under the waves and never come up.

When her losses reached three hundred and forty-six dollars, she begged off, said something about sending checks when she got home. By that time she was too far steeped in her misery to note their expressions when she pushed back her chair at the bridge table, hating them.

They were so smug, so polished, so smooth, so secure! They couldn't know the torture that racked her. And they never would. She'd pay that debt. She'd been able to get the money for the flying lessons that were indirectly responsible for this folly.

Somehow she'd get this money. From wall to wall where there was no open door, her frantic thoughts beat themselves out. She had nowhere to turn. It was impossible to hope that her father could help her as it had been when she wanted money for the flying course. She thought wildly of Rita Cartright. But Rita, who was a regular person—she appreciated Rita more now that she had known these others—was in Europe and Julie didn't know how to cable her. Rita was the only person with money from whom she could now borrow.

Then she found the open door! Stanley Lombard and his proposal that she fly for his client! It was July. He said that the client was getting enthusiastic. Had decided on it for the autumn. Autumn wasn't very far off.

She would ask him to give her an advance. Three hundred and forty-six dollars was less than two weeks pay at the salary he'd mentioned. He was a rich man. The advance would mean nothing to him. She'd heard that companies frequently made advances.

She decided to ask him at once. "May I speak to you privately?" she asked when they were leaving the dining-room.

"Sure enough," Stanley led the way to the library.

"One of these men want to run off with you?" he asked kindly.

She waited but he said nothing. She shook her head. "No, it's much more serious than that. I need your help. Mr. Lombard.... about the thing we talked about."

She waited but he said nothing.

Her breath was short. "About flying on a tour from city to city and putting on fashion shows for your client."

"Oh, yes," he cleared his throat and looked around for a cigarette box.

"If you still want me to do it...." Why couldn't she say it in a business-like way instead of in that pathetic voice, she wondered.

"Why, you see.... it wasn't quite decided.... there seems to be some doubt.... just at this time...."

"I see," she said hiding her hands so that he wouldn't see that she couldn't keep from tearing at the corners of her handkerchief.

"But if he changes his mind...."

"Yes, I know," she said. "Well.... that's all there is, I guess."

She was anxious to get out, away from that room, from Lombard's sympathetic eyes, his embarrassment. She knew then that Elsa Herford with her sharp questions about her radio assistance on Jerry's flight had opened Lombard's eyes to her inexperience.

But then she was not concerned with Elsa. Only her own immediate desperation engaged her.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—From the icy stillness of the Arctic there has come a long-forgotten tale of heroic victory over almost impossible odds.

Department of interior officials now have verified the story of Max Gottschalk, who negotiated a perilous dogsled journey across Bering Strait 25 years ago.

The crossing, made in a temperature 20 degrees below zero, is significant because it throws new light on the oft-debated question, "Could the North American Indian have come to this continent from Siberia?"

Did Indians Come From Asia?

The amazing story of Gottschalk's trip was learned by Dr. John P. Harrington of the Smithsonian Institution, now studying evidence of the Asiatic origin of the American Indian.

Hearing legends of the feat, he contacted Gottschalk, now captain of an Alaskan trading schooner and a resident of Nome. In answer to the queries, Captain Gottschalk replied:

"Yes, it is true that I crossed Bering Strait on the ice. I left East Cape, Siberia, in March, 1913, with my sled loaded with fur and food and with 16 dogs.

"It took me two and one-half days to reach Big Diomedes island, traveling at an angle over the moving ice to allow for the northward current.

"At Little Diomedes island a man by the name of Bill Schroeder joined me, traveling on snowshoes. When we were 25 miles out on the traveling floes, he fell through. I wrapped him in a blanket and took him back, but he soon died.

Journey Was Perilous

"I again struck out for Cape Prince of Wales, which is only 24 miles on a straight line from Little Diomedes island. After six days I

Couple At N. Waterford Observe 60th Anniversary

Honoring their 60th wedding anniversary on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 6, from 2 to 5, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Rudibaugh will welcome their many friends at their lovely country home on the Mill Rock-New Waterford road. They will be assisted in receiving by their three children, Mrs. W. O. Reed of Rogers, Mrs. John Morris of Lisbon and Charles C. Rudibaugh of Youngstown and, if possible, their six grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Farm Bought By Parents

The 160-acre farm on which Mr. Rudibaugh has spent his entire life was purchased by his parents, John M. and Evann Hollinger Rudibaugh, from Farlan Thompson whose grant of land was signed by President Thomas Jefferson in 1804. The commodious residence was erected by John Sr. in 1867 and added to by the present owner. Here he brought his bride, Miss Hannah Emily Hawkins, after their wedding on Feb. 7, 1878, at the William P. and Amanda Randolph Hawkins' homestead about a mile across the fields in Unity township.

Of the guests at the wedding, at least eight are able to offer congratulations to the bride and groom of 60 years. They are the bride's brother, W. R. Hawkins, and several nieces and nephews. Mrs. Eva Fuller, Columbus; Mrs. George Crook, Columbus; Mrs. W. B. Reed, Columbus; W. T. Hawkins and Mrs. C. B. Williams, New Waterford; Charles Hawkins, Bradock, Pa.; and a friend, A. A. Ramsay of Lisbon. Rev. G. L. Wingett of the Bible Christian church at Middleton was the officiating clergyman and the attendants were Miss Margaret Rupert and Calvin Cope, all of whom have died.

Lifelong members of the New Waterford Methodist Episcopal church, the Rudibaughs have taken a leading part in all its activities as well as in community affairs. Mr. Rudibaugh has served Middleton township as trustee and was clerk of his school board for over 20 years. A director of the New Waterford Savings and Banking company for 25 years, he has been its president for 10 and was re-elected recently at its annual directors' meeting.

Lifelong Democrat
A Democrat always, his first presidential vote was cast for Samuel J. Tilden in 1876 who lost by a margin of one electoral vote, that being the year that a special electoral commission was necessary to decide that 185 electoral votes went to Hayes and Wheeler and 184 to Tilden and Hendrick. The county Democrats have ever depended on the Rudibaugh support and service on committees.

John Franklin Rudibaugh was born August 29, 1854, and had one sister, Mrs. Cleaver Richardson, deceased. Hannah Emily Hawkins, one of nine children, was born March 4, 1867. Their wedding anniversary on Monday will probably be spent according to their usual Monday custom. Rising at 5:30 a. m., they will enjoy a breakfast of buckwheat cakes and soon after seven o'clock they will go, with a neighbor, to the Morris home near Signal for the weekly community sale which they always attend when able, and that is most of the time as their health is quite good.

Mrs. F. N. Dilworth Class President

Mrs. F. N. Dilworth was named president of the Trimble class of the Presbyterian church at a quarterly meeting of the group last evening in the home of Miss Irma Hutcherson, East Third st.

Other officers are: Vice president, Mrs. Thomas Jenkins; secretary, Mrs. George Meiser; treasurer, Miss Agnes Wilson.

The treasurer reported that $110 had been turned over to the church building fund and that an additional $25 had been subscribed through the work of the class.

Plans were made for the annual party in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. W. E. Bunn, teacher of the class. The affair will be held sometime in April, the date to be decided later. A further contribution to the building fund will be made at that time when each member will bring a penny for every year of her age.

Junior Music Club Is Entertained

Junior Music club members met last evening at the home of John Evans, East Seventh st., with George Hanson as associate host. Papers on the trumpet, oboe and bassoon were given, by Dix Yates, Robert Harshman and Miss Cleo Santee, respectively. The musical program included: Piano solo, "One Fete a Madred" (Francis Thome) and "Elegie" (Massenet), Miss Betty Sharp; trumpet solos, "Grand Russian Fantasia" (Levey) and "Emmett's Lullaby" (T. V. Short), John Evans, accompanied by his brother, Paul.

A social hour and refreshments were enjoyed after the meeting.

Miss Mary Jane Britt will entertain the club at her home on Woodland ave. on Feb. 15.

Mrs. Kenneweg Will Visit In Florida

Mrs. Rene Kenneweg, who will leave Thursday for a vacation at Miami Beach, Fla., spent Monday and Tuesday in Cleveland as the guest of friends.

Miss Thelma Bennett and Miss Lee Rappaport were hostesses to friends at their home in Cleveland in honor of Mrs. Kenneweg Monday evening.

The next meeting will be Feb. 15.

Auxiliary Convenes
Elks Ladies auxiliary transacted regular business at a meeting last night in the lodge home. Members played bingo after the session.

Shower Held By Harris Class

Harris class of the Christian church, at a meeting in the church last night, presented a shower of linen and kitchen gifts to Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Weingart, whose home was destroyed by fire last week.

Forty-five members of the class attended, enjoying a covered dinner prior to the program. Entertainment included: Guitar duets, Bruce Riley and Robert Kline; piano solo, Joan Butler; readings, Mrs. Glen Whinery; songs, Gene and Glenn Weingart.

The committee in charge included Miss Martha Whinery, Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Green, Mrs. Merle Stratton and Mrs. Lowell Brown.

India Subject at Travelers Meet

Salem Travelers club study of India was continued with three papers presented at a meeting Tuesday afternoon at the library.

Mrs. L. D. Cessna discussed "Indian Ideals of Life"; Mrs. G. R. Deming, "Indian Art"; and Mrs. J. Clyde McKee, "Rabindranath Tagore."

"The Lives of a Bengal Lancer", showing a second time here, will be seen at the Grand tonight and Thursday.

Featuring Gary Cooper, Richard Crane, Richard Cromwell and Sir Guy Standing in the principal roles "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer" is a stirring colorful and action crammed story of the exploits and adventures of England's colonial soldiers in India.

Bravery and Discipline

The story of "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer" is that of the extraordinary bravery, discipline and skill that has enabled a mere handful of English officers to hold sway over the teeming millions of India. Cooper is a captain of the 41st Bengal Lancers, commanded by Sir Guy Standing, when Sir Guy's son, played by Richard Cromwell, arrives as a raw recruit.

Cooper and Tone also an officer of the regiment, take over the training of the young lad, but on a visit to an adjoining province, Cromwell becomes involved with a beautiful girl and is kidnapped by Mohammed Khan a hostile leader, who hopes that his father will pursue him and thus lead the Lancers to disaster.

Cooper and Tone follow and are caught when they attempt to free Cromwell. Under torture, Cromwell discloses the whereabouts of a tremendous cargo of ammunition. Mohammed Khan captures the ammunition, brings it back to the fortress and prepares to lead a revolution against the British.

Saved By Cooper

The Bengal Lancers ride on the fortress, prepared to face destruction, if it will stem the revolution until reinforcements can arrive. The needless sacrifice is prevented by Cooper, who, by a daring maneuver, single-handedly destroys the fortress, effects the release of the prisoners, and saves the Bengal Lancers.

Grace Moore, popular star of opera and films, has Melvyn Douglas as leading man in "I'll Take Romance", showing at the State tonight and Thursday.

Helen Westley and Stuart Erwin head the excellent supporting cast. "I'll Take Romance" is a rollicking story in the humorous vein of Miss Moore's recent "When You're In Love". A delightful tongue-in-cheek tale, it tells of an opera singer, completely dominated by an aunt, who plans to break a contract to sing in Buenos Aires in order to accept one to appear in Paris. Jim Guthrie, a transplanted American, comes from the Argentine with his henchman, Senor Pancho Brownell (born in Brooklyn), and things begin to happen.

Proposes Action To Increase Pay Of Commissioners

COLUMBUS, Feb. 2.—The County Commissioners' Association of Ohio turned today to election of officers and committee reports as its 57th annual convention entered final sessions.
Delegates, by a show of hands, evinced only minor interest in a proposal by T. A. Conway of Elviria to bring suit in the state supreme court in an attempt to obtain wage increases for present commissioners under a salary adjustment bill recently enacted by the legislature.
The salary measure, introduced by Rep. P. E. Ward (R-Geauga), provided increases for all county commissioners but will not become effective until new commissioners are named or present ones reelected. Conway held that the bill repealed the old section under which commissioners were paid and that therefore they were entitled to the increases immediately.
State Highway Director John S. Foster, Jr., in an address before the commissioners, assailed the federal gasoline tax.
"The federal government actually is making a profit on these taxes," he said. "In Ohio alone during 1938, more than $20,000,000 was collected and the government returned less than $7,000,000, giving it a profit of approximately $13,000,000."
Gov. Martin L. Davey and former Atty. Gen. John W. Bricker were scheduled to speak at yesterday's sessions but sent their regrets.
Oscar Dunn of Lorain county, a member of the commissioners' executive committee, commenting on the salary increase proposal, said that if Conway were successful in a suit he would collect a total of $73,000 in fees from county commissioners.

"POLICY CLEAR" SAYS PRESIDENT

Senate Criticism Is Not Likely to Alter Foreign Plans

never swerved from the "non-interference, non-intervention" policy enunciated by President Roosevelt when he took office.
Johnson disagreed and asserted that the President's Chicago declaration for a "quarantine" of warring nations and the subsequent Brussels conference had put America in "the pusillanimous position of having threatened a country and not carried through."
"Unfortunate Statement"
Borah, another veteran member of the foreign relations committee, told the senate that the British foreign secretary had informed parliament an understanding existed between Great Britain and the United States.
"I regard that statement as most unfortunate," Borah observed, "because there has gone to the world an understanding that the United States and Great Britain have a working relationship and of such nature that it must be kept secret."

CALLS PARLEY ON SUB MENACE

Britain's Eden Calls In French, Italian Ambassadors

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Feb. 1.—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden summoned the French and Italian ambassadors to conference today to draft emergency measures to rid the Mediterranean of the recurrent submarine menace to merchant shipping.
The menace grew from the Spanish civil war, and resulted last fall in the Nyon accord delegating Britain and France, later Italy, to patrol the sea and to sink any attacking craft.
Today's consultation was the direct result of sinking of the British reighter Encymlon with loss of ten lives, off the southeastern Spanish coast on Sunday.
"Dual" Personality
The Spanish government charged that the submarine was Italian with a "dual" personality—Italian while on patrol duties in the Mediterranean but actually aiding Spanish insurgents in their attempt to blockade Spanish government ports.
Eden awaited further official information on the identification, but it was understood he had mentioned the matter to Italy's ambassador, Count Dino Grandi, yesterday.
Thus far there was no indication the allegation would be made a subject of formal exchange between Britain and Italy.
Rome officials observed that Spanish government charges the insurgents had six Italian warships "were not addressed to us and hence we have no reply to make."
Britain already has dispatched four destroyers with depth bombs to search for the submarine amid widespread indignation and English newspaper demands for destruction of "the mad dogs." Four others were heading into the area from Gibraltar.
Protects "Air Vendettas"
While Eden mapped new measures to end what Britain regards as renewed piracy on the high seas, France's Premier Camille Chauvignat took the lead in an appeal against Spanish "air vendettas"—aerial bombardment of cities—which have cost the lives of hundreds of Spanish civilians.
A French government spokesman said Chautemps was confident other world powers would unite in urging Spanish insurgents and the Barcelona government to agree to end the attacks.
The Barcelona government last week announced it was ready to halt raids on open cities if insurgents dealt with.

Sub-Zero Wave Follows Blizzard in Michigan

Second heavy blizzard strikes northern Michigan, is a scene at Ironwood, taken at night, showing adding to hardships of below zero weather. Here the snow drifted high along the street.

Alfred Duff Cooper, first lord of the admiralty, told the house of commons yesterday that "we are taking steps to increase our patrol at once," because of the attack but identity of the attacker was not dealt with.
Meanwhile, in Spain itself the war seemed at a standstill. An insurgent communique said there was nothing to report, while the government announced its cavalry was scouting on the Guadalajara front, north of Madrid, preparatory to a new drive.

Ohio Pastors Told To Be Coordinators

COLUMBUS, Feb. 2.—Delegates attending the 19th annual Ohio Pastors convention were told yesterday that pastors should be "human coordinators" rather than business men.
Dr. Clyde A. Lynch, president of Lebanon college, Annville, Pa., asserted:
"A minister should transcend immateriality through redemptive processes and be the son of God."
"He should be the human coordinator, and not be like the business man who looks upon his fellow man as a prospective customer."
Miss Mabel Head of Cleveland was reelected chairman of the women's department, Ohio council of churches, at the state conference of church women.

QUAKERS MEET MASSILLON ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Fast-Breaking Tigers To Test Salem High Five On Local Court

Unlumber the big guns, mates, the Tigers are coming! You guessed it. They're these rip-roaring, fast-breaking Massillon Tigers, runner-up for the state scholastic basketball championship last year and currently rated as the No. 1 team of 1937-38 season.

The Tigers are due here Friday night, scheduled to meet Salem High school's Quakers in one of the top-notch games of the Ohio schoolboy cage program for the coming weekend.

It's a cleverer and faster Tiger aggregation which is invading the Quakers' lair this year. Lacking the height of last year's Massillon quint, the Tigers this season depend more on speed and cleverness in conquering their opponents.

Offensive power is the keynote of the Massillon combine and a fast break with Bob McDade, Paul Herman and Kenneth Everett bearing the brunt of the attack is employed by the Tigers in wearing down their opponents.

Defensively, the Tigers rely on the zone system to keep their foes from working in under the basket. Their defense is not as strong as their offense, but it has been good enough to permit them to conquer all but one of their opponents to date.

The Tigers have won eight of their nine starts thus far in the 1937-38 campaign. Their lone loss was to Canton McKinley's Bulldogs by two points, but to offset this they have gained victories over some of northeastern Ohio's outstanding scholastic quintets.

McDade, the lone veteran from last season's crack Massillon team which wiped up practically everything in sight during the regular season and then rolled through the state tournament, losing to Hamilton in the championship game, is considered the outstanding member of the Tiger aggregation.

Although no one member of the Massillon quintet is classed as exceptionally superior to the other regulars, McDade is the steady influence and the most valuable player because of his past experience.

McDade is used at the pivot position along with Everett at the other swivel spot. Herman, Ed Miglich and Ed Huth are the ball-handlers, who alternate in working in and out of the corners and whipping quick passes into McDade and Everett.

The sixth man to the Tiger varsity is Bill Wallace, a second stringer from last year, who is used frequently as a replacement in the lineup.

The Tigers are the only opponent on the Quakers' schedule for this week and are the first of three high-caliber teams which Coach Herb Brown's lads will meet in consecutive games. Next Friday night, the Quakers face the strong East Liverpool quintet here, while the following Friday they will invade the Rubber City for an engagement with Akron West.

Expecting a sell-out crowd, Faculty Manager Frederick E. Cope placed the tickets for the Massillon game on sale at the J. H. Lease and N. L. Reich stores last night. Cope warned fans to get their tickets before game time if possible in view of the fact that there has been a heavy demand for seats.

Approximately 100 extra reserved seat tickets will be made available by placing chairs under the running track at the north and south ends of the floor, Cope said.

The game will start at 8:30 and will be preceded by a reserve contest, which will get under way at 7:30. P. B. Lebeck of Akron will referee. Only one official will be used, Cope said, because of a request for this by Massillon athletic officials.

BOWLING RESULTS

With the top ranking Salem News team and the second place Bunn's Shoes idle because their match was postponed, National league bowling last night centered mostly around second division teams.

Mullins Foremen remained in third place by taking two out of three games from the Masons, while Mullins Manufacturers held their fourth place spot by winning two out of three from Douth's. The fifth place Young Democrats won three heats from the cellar team Zimmerman Oldsmobiles in the other match.

The City Duckpin league first place race was tied up again at the Grate alleys last night as the Colonial Billiards won two out of three games from Pottery No. 2 to move into a clinch for the lead with the Bliss team, which lost two out of three to Pottery No. 1.

One of the best single game duckpin scores of the season was turned in during the Bliss-Pottery No. 1 match when E. Jackson of the Pottery team hit 240.

LUTHERANS WIN TO MOVE UP IN COLLEGE CHASE

Wittenberg Quint Tops Denison; Ohio U. Defeats Cincy

(By Associated Press)
Wittenberg's Lutherans and Ohio university's Bobcats were more strongly entrenched today among the topnotchers, respectively, of the Ohio and Buckeye conferences.

Denison's Big Red crumpled before the Wittenberg basketballers at Springfield last night, 62 to 32, as Ohio U. stopped the University of Cincinnati, 40 to 35, at Athens.

Shannon, forward, led the Lutherans to their fourth consecutive conference victory with a total of 13 points. His quintet held a 26-11 edge at intermission.

The triumph gave Wittenberg four wins against no conference defeats and strengthened their bid to overtake the loop leading Wooster college contingent, which has piled up five victories in as many starts.

The Bobcats' defeat of Cincinnati gave them three Buckeye victories against a single defeat—administered by the same foe.

Marshall tops the circuit with four straight wins.

At half-time the count was 17-14. Lallik, Bobcat forward, scored 14 points.

Xavier university of Cincinnati, humbled Akron's Zippers, 35 to 29. Xavier was behind, 17-15, at half-time. Carroll, of Xavier, topped the scorers with 10 markers.

Miami university rallied in the last half to take a 32-29 encounter from Wilmington. At the half, Wilmington led, 22 to 17. Mount Union walloped Hiram, 40 to 28, although the vanquished made it a nip-and-tuck battle early in the game. The Purple moved ahead to a 23-12 count at the half.

Don West Gains 2nd Win By K. O.

Scoring his second straight knockout victory, Don West, scrappy young Salem slugger from Jimmy Perry's Athletic club, kayoed Don Jones of East Palestine in the first round of a scheduled three-round amateur bout at Palestine last night.

Two other fighters from Perry's stables—Bill Haymayer and Fred Fox—also appeared on the amateur card. Haymayer won from Kid Culp on decision while Fox, making his first start in the squared circle, lost to Enoch Henry of Palestine.

The subject of football came up when someone asked Griffith if he thought there was anything wrong with baseball today.

"Nothing," he replied, "but there could be some college football rule changes."

"It's still too much of a closed-up game," he explained, advocating more passing.

He frowned on mass plays, declaring "sometimes it is torture to sit through and watch them."

No other member of the party was hurt seriously. The bus was enroute to Johnson City.

Oppose Olympics

LONDON, Feb. 2.—Sentiment in Great Britain against British representation at the Tokyo Olympic games in 1940 is national in scope, says Lord Aberdare, who will meet of the International Olympic committee in Cairo in March.

The British Olympic committee last night discussed the apparent failure of Japanese officials to issue invitations for the games and drafted instructions for Lord Aberdare.

Goes To Texas

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 2.—Marty Karow, Naval Academy baseball coach and former star in football, basketball and basketball at Ohio State university, prepared today to leave here for the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college where he will coach the football backfield and basketball. He also assisted in football and basketball coaching at the Naval Academy since 1936.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

By EDDIE BRIETZ
NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Mike Jacobs and Tommy Farr are not "just like that" any more. Reason is Tommy's point blank refusal to brawl with Max Baer.

The New York boxing commission has refused to let Tony Galento pose for any more pictures showing him smoking a cigar or drinking a glass of beer. Which will just about play the devil with Tony's training program. North Carolina sports editors are wiring in wanting to know what is "brewing at Duke". You'll find out in two or three years, boys.

About the only item of interest it produced was the fact that Judge Landis and Larry MacPhail, who have been at loggerheads more than once, have made up and have a date to play golf in Florida March 11.

Bill Brandt, press agent for the league, celebrated the occasion by issuing his annual "Green Book" which is just about the classic effort Bill has ever turned out.

Burleigh Grimes told all within hearing that he learned more about baseball in one year under John McGraw than in 14 years of pitching on other National league clubs.

One of the most sought after guests at the Baseball Writers' dinner was Author Tom Wolfe.

Heinz Guttman, star defense man on Marquette university's cage quint, once was personally decorated by the late President Hindenburg of Germany for his all-around excellence in six track events at Berlin.

Frank Martin, president of the Community Opticians, says only 30 per cent of spectators at a football game can follow the ball. Dizzy Dean will sign for $20,000—and what's more, he'll get it.

LEADING WOMEN GOLFERS CLASH

Marion Miley To Battle Dorothy Kirby In Tourney Match

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Feb. 2.—A match between Marion Miley of Fort Pierce, Fla., and Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga., claimed chief interest in the Miami Biltmore women's golf tournament today.

Miss Kirby, southern women's champion, dispatched Mrs. Douglas Hill of Cincinnati 6 and 5 yesterday. With an identical score Miss Miley co-medalist with Patty Berg and Mrs. Jane Cochran Jameson, eliminated Mrs. Blanche Fitzgibbon of New York.

Patty was paired with Sally Guth of Webster Grove, Mo., and Mrs. Jameson played Mrs. Mortimer May of New York today.

Kathryn Hemphill of Columbia, S. C., who was matched with Mrs. S. C. Harbaugh of Cleveland, yesterday trounced Gladys Durand of East Williston, N. Y., 5 and 4.

Patty Berg yesterday defeated Mrs. Freda Nolan of New Castle, Pa., 7 and 6, and Mrs. Jameson advanced on the default of Mrs. Leo Walper of Washington.

Jesse Owens Court Team Suspended

CLEVELAND, Feb. 2.—The Amateur Athletic Union today has suspended "Jesse Owens" Olympians, er masse because said Floyd A. Rowe, Northeast Ohio A. A. U. secretary, "of an A. A. U. rule that amateur teams cannot go on tour for more than 21 days. The Olympians' 21-day leave expired last weekend."

Rowe said the former Ohio State university Negro athlete and his cage caravan—currently in the Pacific northwest—are under indefinite suspension pending an investigation.

Rowe said the suspension did not result from Owens personal connection with the quintet, but because Jesse failed to obtain a travel permit.

Pick Cunningham To Win Mile Run

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—If history repeats as is its habit, Glenn Cunningham the smooth-striding Kansan will win the Wanamaker mile at the Millrose games Saturday night.

"Old Hatchet Face," as the boys call Glenn, has been running this event since 1933 and has missed winning it only once. That's four victories in five starts.

Accompanied by such stalwarts as Don Lash, who will try for a double in the mile and the two-mile run; Archie San Romani, who has never won the Wanamaker; Gene Venzke, who won it once, and Wisconsin's Chuck Fenske, Cunningham will enter one of the greatest of the invitation indoor miles against one of its best fields.

Old Star Is Speaker

Honus Wagner

High commissioner of the National Semi-Pro Baseball congress is the title worn now by Honus Wagner, former great shortstop of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and here is Honus, addressing a congress meeting in New York.

One report is that the final dickering concerned a trade with Mancuso and Wally Berger, hard-hitting but slow footed outfielder, for Lombardi, Dee Moore and Harry Craft, a rookie fly chaser.

(2) The Giants may send Berger to Brooklyn, possibly along with Mancuso, a pitcher or both, in exchange for Buddy Hassett, the Dodgers' young first baseman.

(3) The St. Louis Cardinals are angling for Gordon (Blimp) Phelps and Lippy Leo Durocher of Brooklyn; no offers mentioned.

(4) The Phillies may get into the trading with Dolph Camilli and Pitchers Claude Passeau and Buckie Walters as bait. President Gerry Nugent of the Phils denied he would "break up a ball club" by trading all three but admitted one of them could be had at the right price. Camilli is said to have been offered to Brooklyn and Passeau to the Chicago Cubs.

(5) The Giants offered the Cardinals Mancuso for either Stan Bordagaray, former Brooklyn outfielder, and one other player, possibly Herb Bremer, rookie catcher, and got a negative answer.

JACOBS OFFERS ADAMICK FIGHT

Detroit Lad to Get Shot At Louis-Mann Winner If He Beats Baer

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Tommy Farr's opinion of his fighting powers and Jim Braddock's retirement may give young Jimmy Adamick of Detroit, the chance he has been waiting for, a shot at the big money.

Farr, approached by Promoter Mike Jacobs yesterday for a bout with Max Baer, didn't seem interested. So Mike said he was "getting a little tired of Farr" and indicated that the Detroit youngster would be offered the bout unless Farr changed his mind.

"I'll give Adamick the chance and I'll make it worth his while, too," said Mike. "If he beats Baer I'll promise him an April match with the winner of the Joe Louis-Nathan Mann title bout."

The Welshman, beaten by Braddock in his last start, told newspaper men he definitely would not fight Baer. "I want either Braddock or Schmeling," said Tommy. "I can't see why I am called on to eliminate Baer just because Braddock has quit. If Schmeling wants another 'tuneup' in this country, I'll meet him on a winner-take-all basis. Otherwise I'm going back home."
